Combine talent with skills, personalities and team spirit in a musical project mixing rhythm, originality, listening and exchange within your teams.

Management and music are closely linked. It unites the teams around the collective performance. Listening, connivance, conviviality are elements from this experience that you will be able to use everyday in your company.

This Team-building stimulates communication between the actors of the company, it is an "ice-breaker" that will give the floor to the drum, putting the participants in a new environment, far away from the daily hierarchical structures.

Let our instruments make the heart of your company beat !
